2 About your Card

Your Card is a prepaid, reloadable eftpos debit card where the monetary value is recorded on a host computer located in emmerchants' secure hosting facility.

Your Card may be branded with standard emmerchants' branding or the branding of a third party. Please note, the branding on your Card does not in any way affect the terms and conditions relating to the Card set out in this PDS or the additional important information contained in the PIN Mailer. The terms and conditions in this PDS and the information contained in the PIN Mailer apply to your Card regardless of how it is branded.

emerchants arranges for the sale and issue of the Cards. The Stored Value on your Card is held in a special purpose account maintained with an authorised deposit-taking institution (ADI). The ADI is responsible for making the payments for transactions completed with your Card. The ADI also performs the following functions in respect of the Card:

- (a) issuing the Card to emmerchants; and
- (b) settlement of transactions that you make with your Card with counterparties of those transactions.

The ADI does not issue the Card to you and is in no way responsible for, or guarantees, your ability to access any stored value. Section 4 (Risks to Cardholders) provides more information on the respective roles of emmerchants and the ADI.

emerchants uses its card management platform and data processing systems to maintain the record of the value stored on your Card. emmerchants provides customer service support for Cardholders, including the online and telephone systems to allow Cardholders access to their stored value balance and transaction history.

More information about emmerchants and the Card is available on our website (www.emmerchants.com.au)

4 Significant risks to Cardholders

Some of the risks that may be associated with the use of your Card are outlined below. The risks described are intended to be a summary of the major risks associated with the Card and are not exhaustive. There may be other risks that relate to the use of your Card.

Unlike an account with a financial institution, your Card is not backed by the depositor protection provisions in the Banking Act 1959 (Cth) and emergchants is not an ADI. Your Stored Value is recorded by the systems maintained by emergchants. This means that your Stored Value does not have the same protection as a deposit in an account with an ADI.

When you provide funds to purchase a Card or reload value onto it, those funds are held by emergchants in a special purpose account established by an ADI in emergchants' name, together with funds provided by all other Cardholders (the Aggregate Account). You do not have a beneficial interest in the Aggregate Account, and you have no right to make a claim on the Aggregate Account.

When you redeem value on your Card (for example, by withdrawing cash from an ATM), emERCHANTS is responsible for authorising the transaction which allows the redemption to be processed. Once a transaction is authorised, emERCHANTS instructs the ADI to effect the settlement with the counterparty to the transaction by withdrawing funds from the Aggregate Account and passing them to that counterparty's financial institution.

The following additional risks may be associated with the use of your Card:

- (a) the ability to access the Stored Value on your Card may be delayed if emERCHANTS is unable to process the transaction because you have supplied incorrect information or for some other reason;
- (b) use of your Card may be restricted if ATM and point of sale systems are off-line; and
- (c) loss of, or damage to, the record of Stored Value on your Card caused by the failure of data processing systems may affect your ability to use your Card.
- (d) In some circumstances (for example, where a transaction is processed in an offline environment or where you incur a fee or charge), the balance of your Card may fall into negative (meaning there may become less than $0.00 Value remaining on your Card).

The ADI can stop any or all Cards from operating in the event of the insolvency of emERCHANTS or a breach by emERCHANTS of any obligation or duty it owes to the ADI.

5 Fees and other Costs

Details of the fees and other costs that apply to your Card are set out in the PIN Mailer. We may deduct any fees and other costs payable by you from the record of Stored Value on your Card and reduce the Stored Value accordingly.

In some circumstances (for example, where a transaction is processed in an offline environment or where you incur a fee or charge), the balance of your Card may fall into negative (meaning there may become less than $0.00 Value remaining on your Card).

We may vary the fees and other costs (including by increasing or decreasing existing fees or costs or introducing new fees or costs) that apply to your Card at any time. You will be given prior written notice of any changes in the fees and other costs that apply to your Card.

6 Government fees and other Costs

We may deduct any government taxes and duties from the record of Stored Value on your Card and reduce the Stored Value accordingly.

7 Interest

You do not earn interest on the Stored Value on your Card.
